What we've been up to:

Do you remember that scene in the Titanic movie where the elderly version of Rose says "It's been 84 years..." That's exactly how the month of January felt this year!! haha! Through the frigid temps, snow squalls, and the inevitable winter viruses - we made it through to February!! Our kiddos were without a doubt the bright spot of each week for us. They have been so genuinely happy to be at school and playing with friends, singing, dancing, running, jumping, and just being the best group of toddlers hands down! They 100% kept a smile on my face each morning and I am just incredibly thankful for each of them. This next month we are going to celebrate the Olympics - standby for the video of a lifetime (that's the goal at least haha) with this! We will celebrate Valentine's Day and talk about all the people and things we love. Our littles are just doing AMAZING! I say it every month but I truly mean every word when I say that we are blessed with the absolute best!!! Here's hoping for a little warmth now! :)
